AN APPLICATION GUIDE TO PACIFIC ISLAND COUNTRIES INTERNATIONAL STUDENT PROGRAMS AT LIAOCHENG UNIVERSITY

1. AN AMAZING SHANDONG: THE PROVINCE FOR CONFUCIUS, MT. TAI, AND THE YELLOW RIVER

1.1 CONFUCIUS: THE MAN ONE MUST KNOW TO UNDERSTAND CHINA AND CHINESE

Confucius (Chinese: Kong-zi), born in the State of Lu (part of today's Shandong province) in the Spring and Autumn Period (770 B.C. - 476 B.C.), was one of the best known Chinese philosophers traditionally considered as the paragons of Chinese sages. It is today well acknowledged that much of the shared cultural heritage of the Sinosphere originates in the philosophy and teachings of Confucius.

His philosophical teachings, called Confucianism, emphasized personal and governmental morality, harmonious social relationships, righteousness, kindness, sincerity, and a ruler's responsibilities to lead by virtue. Confucius considered himself a transmitter for the values of earlier periods which he claimed had been abandoned in his time. Traditionally, Confucius is credited with having authored or edited many of the ancient texts including all of the Six Classics. From ancient dynasties to the modern era, Confucianism has integrated into the Chinese social fabric and way of life.

1.2 MT. TAI: MOUNTAIN OF NEW BIRTH AND PROSPERITY

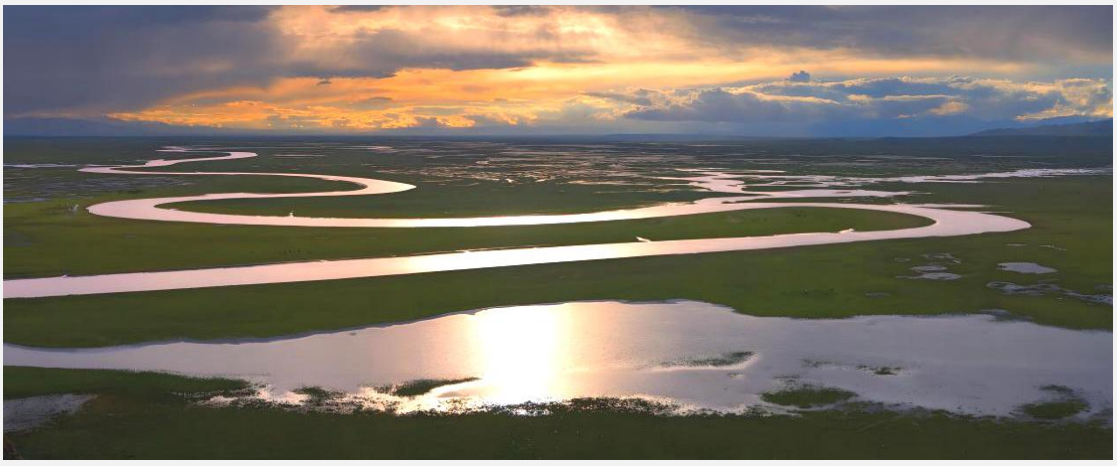

(Picturesque Views on Mt. Tai)

Mt. Tai (Chinese: Tai-shan) is a mountain of historical and cultural significance located north of the city of Tai'an in Shandong province. As the highest point in Shandong, the tallest peak of the mountain is the Jade Emperor Peak, which is 1,545 meters (5,069 feet) tall. As one of China's 5A tourist destinations, Mt. Tai is famous for its steep and towering peaks, the beautiful sunrise and sunset view, the sea of clouds, the multitude of monuments, stone carvings, religious temples and other cultural landscapes. In light of the difficulty in the mountain climbing and the extreme fatigue visitors feel upon their climbing, there arises a popular saying among today's Chinese that "Mt.Tai will wake up all tough-talkers back to reality".

Known as the Eastern Mountain of the sacred mountains of China, which has long been associated with new birth and renewal in traditional Chinese philosophy, Mt. Tai is often regarded as the foremost significant of the Five Sacred. Mt. Tai has been a place of worship for at least 3,000 years and served as one of the most important ceremonial centers of China during large portions of this period. Because of its sacred cultural importance and dramatic natural landscape, it was made China's first UNESCO Natural and Cultural World Heritage Site in 1987.

1.3 THE YELLOW RIVER: THE CRADLE OF CHINESE CIVILIZATION, AND THE PLACE IT FINALLY FLOWS INTO THE SEA

(The Yellow River)

The Yellow River (Chinese: Huang-he) is the second-longest river in China and the sixth-longest river system on earth, with an estimated length of 5,464 kilometers (3,395 miles) and a watershed of 795,000 sq. kilometers (307,000 sq. miles). The river is named for the yellow color of its water, which comes from the large amount of sediment discharged into the water as the river flows through the Loess Plateau.The Yellow River's basin presently has a population of 120 million people, while over 420 million people live in the immediate provinces which rely on it as a water source. The basin comprises 13 percent of China's cultivated land area.

The Yellow River basin was the birthplace of ancient Chinese civilization. According to traditional Chinese historiography, the Xia Dynasty originated on the Yellow River banks around 2100 BC. The river has provided fertile soil for agriculture, nourishing the land of Shandong and giving birth to Qilu culture. The Shandong section of the Yellow River is 628 kilometers long, accounting for 11.5% of the total length of the river, entering Shandong province from Heze City, flowing through Jining, Tai'an, Liaocheng, Jinan, Dezhou, Binzhou, Zibo, and Dongying, and infusing into the Bohai Sea in Kenli District of Dongying City. The Yellow River is not only an important resource guarantee for the agricultural prosperity and development of Shandong province, but also the resilient and characteristic background for ecological protection and high-quality development of Shandong, a province that has long been the leader of economic and social development in China.

2. LIAOCHENG UNIVERSITY

Liaocheng University, a public university located in the renowned Water City of Liaocheng in east China's most Confucian and prosperous Shandong province, has long been entitled to conferring to its students master and bachelor degrees on philosophy, economics, law, pedagogy, literature, history, sciences, engineering, agronomy, management, art, medicine, as well as on interdisciplinary studies. Presently within the university are 23 schools and 5 research institutes that cover 74 bachelor degree programs and 21 master degree programs. Chemistry, Engineering, Materials Science, Computer Science, Agricultural Sciences, Plant & Animal Science, and Environment/Ecology of the university are amongst the top 1% of ESI ranking.

3. LIAOCHENG MUNICIPALITY

(View of Liaocheng by LCU)

Liaocheng Municipality, where Liaocheng University is located, covers an area of 8,715 square kilometers with a population of over 6 million. Meeting at the city are Beijing-Kowloon Railway from north to south and Qingdao-Jinan-Handan Railway from east to west, coupled with national expressway network, national bullet train network and the forthcoming local airport, hence an important transportation hub in northern China.

With a history of more than 5,000 years, Liaocheng is characterized with the blending of different cultures and civilizations: Longshan Culture representing pre-historic civilization of China, Confucianism representing traditional Chinese ethics and philosophies, Canal Culture representing business civilization, and Yellow River Culture representing the agricultural civilization in China. The blending of different cultures and civilizations enriches the city with unique local and cultural features, abundant historic relics and tourist resources, and a fast-developing local economy.

(Guangyue Tower, Shan-Shaan Guild Hall, and Turtle-Head Rock)

(Dongchang Lake)

Liaocheng enjoys such reputations as National Historical and Cultural City, National Model City on Environmental Protection, National Garden City, National Forest City, National Excellent Tourism City, National Hot Spring City, China's Top Ten Leisure City, Water City North of the Yangtze River, and Ancient Capital on the Grand Canal.
